

Lectures on the History of Political Philosophy

John Rawls

Edited by Samuel Freeman

Table of Contents

Editor's Foreword

Introductory Remarks

Texts Cited

Introduction: Remarks on Political Philosophy

Lectures on Hobbes

I: Hobbes's Secular Moralism and the Role of His Social Contract

II: Human Nature and the State of Nature

III: Hobbes's Account of Practical Reasoning

IV: The Role and Powers of the Sovereign

Appendix: Hobbes Index

Lectures on Locke

I: His Doctrine of Natural Law

II: His Account of a Legitimate Regime

III: Property and the Class State

Lectures on Hume

I: "Of the Original Contract"

II: Utility, Justice, and the Judicious Spectator

Lectures on Rousseau

I: The Social Contract: Its Problem

II: The Social Contract: Assumptions and the General Will (I)

III: The General Will (II) and the Question of Stability

Lectures on Mill

I: His Conception of Utility

II: His Account of Justice

III: The Principle of Liberty

IV: His Doctrine as a Whole

Appendix: Remarks on Mill's Social Theory

Lectures on Marx

I: His View of Capitalism as a Social System

II: His Conception of Right and Justice

III: His Ideal: A Society of Freely Associated Producers

Appendixes

Four Lectures on Henry Sidgwick

I: Sidgwick's Methods of Ethics

II: Sidgwick on Justice and on the Classical Principle of Utility

III: Sidgwick's Utilitarianism

IV: Summary of Utilitarianism

Five Lectures on Joseph Butler

I: The Moral Constitution of Human Nature

II: The Nature and Authority of Conscience

III: The Economy of the Passions

IV: Butler's Argument against Egoism

V: Supposed Conflict between Conscience and Self-Love

Appendix: Additional Notes on Butler

Course Outline

Index